STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

Join a peer networking and support group that will keep your job search on track and speed your time to landing by up to 25%.

Accelerate Your Search

Staying focused, tracking your progress, building your network—the challenges of conducting an effective job search shouldn't be faced alone. LHH offers Job Search Work Teams as a key component of our executive and professional career transition services. More than an ordinary mutual support group, the team is a coach-led initiative that provides members with a highly organized and expertly guided project management approach to job searching.

Increased Networking Reach

Each week you will meet with 8-12 fellow professional and executive job searchers under the guidance of a certified LHH career coach. Your coach will introduce you to diagnostic and accountability tools, including 14 quantitative measures of job search success. You and your fellow team members will set goals, compare progress and share knowledge, skills and contacts. A clear advantage of participation in the group is the increase in networking reach that team members typically experience. You will have more information, more connections and more job leads.

Action-Oriented Searching

With its performance benchmarks, peer group review and expert coaching, the LHH Job Search Work Team is a proven driver of job search productivity. Based on a model scientifically proven to significantly reduce time to placement, participation in a Job Search Work Team may speed your landing time by up to 25%. Why face the challenges alone when you can leverage the talents of an entire team?

DON'T GO IT ALONE.

A Job Search Work Team is a peer networking and support group facilitated by a specially certified LHH career coach. Your Job Search Work Team will be committed to individual and group progress. You'll meet regularly to review benchmarks, highlights, priorities, and networking contacts, spurring productivity in your search.

Lee Hecht Harrison has helped more than 4 million job seekers from around the world find new jobs – in every industry, in all functions, in all economic conditions. Get started today and you'll be on your way to landing that new job!
